Sceptic! When a wife comes with her husband ship! Never any doubt as to who's to be pleased!

Helps keep peace in the family, too, to know that the lady has the privilege of changing her mind! Money is simply on deposit until she's absolutely sure that suit, overcoat, hat, shoes, shirt, whatever it is, is just what she wants him to have.

"You have to start thinking if you cannot set, and the process of contin-ued thinking brightens your wits in a way that will surprise you. You have with resolution, with the same never to be downed spirit that you faced those damned Germans with over there at the front. You will win the victory, but it is a harder fight than the one where you got blinded. You will be very proud of yourselves, and your friends and reof yourselves, and your friends and re-lations will be very proud of you."

Being Pranks and Passions of the Poet Tricotrin By LEONARD MERRICK

New York Times-"Compact of gayety and wit and mirth, its irony, though keen, is the irony that provokes to delightful chuckles, and if here and there a teer does shine for an instant it twinkles through laughter. More than any other quality, perhaps, more even than the wit and the irony, the sparkle which is as gay and as French as champagne, the exquisite style and unfailing definess of plot, it is this extraordinary ability for making even the least im portant among his characters real human beings, that renders Mr. Merrick's stories so very exceptional. . . . Those who have eyes to see and hearts to feel will regard it as a day to be marked with a white stone, that one on which they first encountered the impecunious poet who lived in the garrets of Mont
